REPAIR AND AUTOIMMUNITY

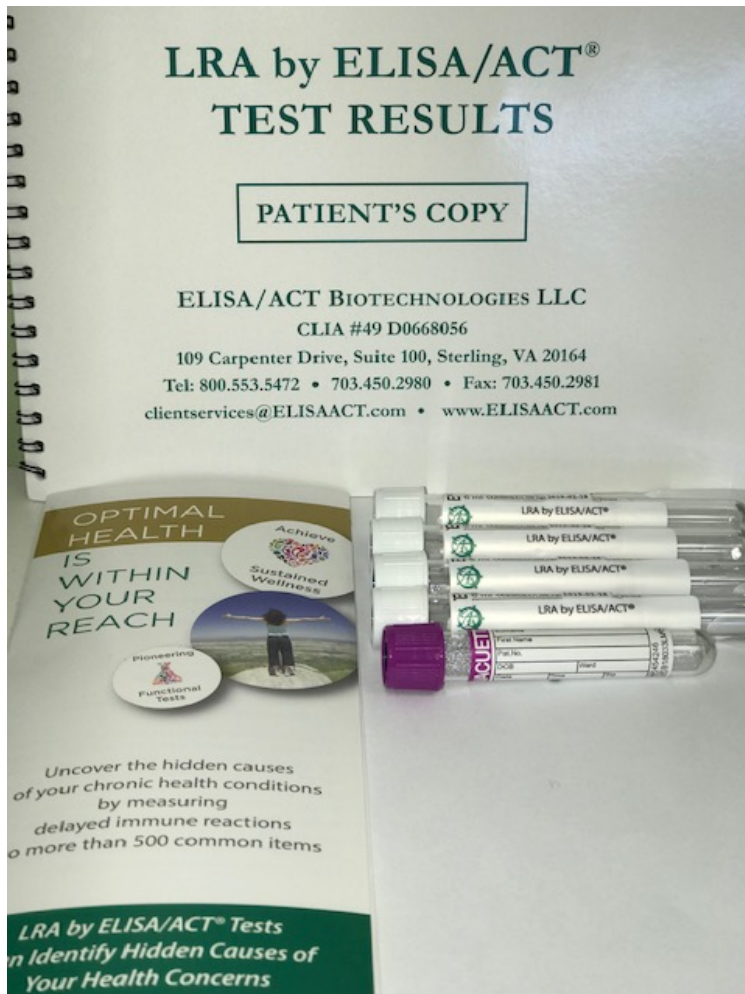

The immune system identifies healthy tissue from foreign invasion by using signaling proteins, hormones, and the nervous system.

An over reactive immune system will begin attacking our body. How this happens is from an over load on the immune system from cellular debris that is not being removed properly via the lymphatic system to chemicals and toxic metals. This over load on the immune system leads to a hyper reactive state, thus our cells begin attacking our bodies.

Repair of the immune system requires that any reactive allergic items are removed from the diet and the body. This requires testing that will determine what is causing the white blood cells to be over reactive. As the overall immune system burden is reduced the hyper reactive response will begin to reduce and the body has a chance to repair.

We use the most accurate lab available for identifying immune system reactive items. The Delayed Onset Allergy Test by ELISA/ACT Biotechnologies is the most accurate and thorough test. We test 406 items including: Foods, Chemicals, Preservatives, Molds and Toxic Metals.

Once the immune reactive items are identified we can then focus on diet and detoxification to restore a normal immune system response.

The ELISA/ACT Biotechnologies Lab tests 406 foods, chemicals, preservatives, molds, and toxic metals. These allergic reactions and toxic build up prevent your immune system from repairing and balancing. The Goal is to have a normally functioning immune system.
