THE BEST TESTS FOR DIGESTIVE HEALTH

The intestines are highly sensitive to stress, toxic pollutants, and antibiotics. Over time the protective layers of mucus, pro biotics, and metallothioneins will lead to the absorption of inflammatory particles.

We will begin to absorb partially digested pieces of food, chemicals, and toxic metals. The white blood cells in the intestinal lining will react to these foreign particles and begin an immune system memory. A memory is formed and every time one of these reactive particles shows up there is an auto immune reaction.

Over time the inflammation from this memorized auto immune reaction damages the intestine to the point where yeast and bacteria can begin to grow.

The goal is to repair the weak intestines so that health can be regained and maintained.

We use a highly accurate Delayed Onset Allergy test. We use the ELISA/ACT Biotechnologies Lab which is the most accurate and thorough of the labs that do this type of testing.

They test for 406 Foods, Chemicals, Preservatives, Molds, and Toxic Metals.

We may also use a specialized Digestive Analysis Testing to identify any pathogens if suspected.
