SAW PALMETTO TRIALS SHOW RESULTS

A clinical trial explored the impact of saw palmetto berry extract on benign prostatic hyperplasia (BPH). Eighty-nine urologists enrolled BPH patients between the ages of 41 and 89.

Of the 315 patients who took 160 mg of saw palmetto extract twice a day for three years, most reported substantial benefit.

At the end of the study, 75% of the patients reported improvements in nocturia and the sensation of incomplete voiding. Most patients experienced some relief within just six months. Over 80% of the patients and physicians reported that the effectiveness and tolerance of the herbal treatment was "good" or "very good."*

Typically, BPH patients experience a 24% to 58% deterioration of prostate function over two to five years. However, in this study, the deterioration rate was only 13.6%.*

The sterols in saw palmetto berry neutralize harmful testosterone metabolites, which is beneficial for BPH patients.*
