DR. JEFFREY L. HENRY, B.S., M.S., D.C.

Doctors have always protected the confidentiality of health information by sealing medical records away in file cabinets and refusing to reveal your information. Today, state and federal laws also attempt to ensure the confidentiality of this sensitive information.

The federal government recently published regulations designed to protect the privacy of your health information. The "privacy rule" protects health information that is maintained by physicians, hospitals, other health care providers and health plans. Physicians, doctors and other health care providers have until April 14, 2003, to comply with the privacy rule's standards for protecting the confidentiality of your health information.

This is to notify you that those practices are in place in our office.

This new regulation protects virtually all patients regardless of where they live or where they receive their health care. Every time you see a physician, doctor, are admitted to the hospital, fill a prescription, or send a claim to a health plan, your health care provider will need to consider the privacy rule. All health information including paper records, oral communications, and electronic formats (such as e-mail) are protected by the privacy rule.

The privacy rule also provides you certain rights, such as the right to have access to your medical records. However, there are exceptions, these rights are not absolute. We also take precautions in our office to safeguard your health information such as training you employees and employing computer security measures. Please feel free to ask your doctor or our privacy officer about exercising your rights or how your health information is protected in our office.

Please let us know if you have any questions about or Notice of Privacy Practices. You may contact your Doctor (Privacy Officer) at 719-522-1219, to discuss any questions you may have with him/her.

I have read and understand Alpine Chiropractic Clinic's Privacy Policy.
